

Monastic & Tibetan
Language Training
Programs for Vietnamese
Vajrayana Practitioners

Zangpo Project

Viet Nalanda Foundation
Zangpo Project

Viet Nalanda Foundation
(Viet Vajra Foundation)
112 Stanford Court
Irvine, CA 92612 USA

To:

Study is the lamp
to dispel
The darkness of benightedness.
It is the best of possession —
Thieves cannot rob
you of it.

It is a weapon to defeat your enemy —
Your blindness to all things.
It is your best friend
Who instructs you
on the means;
It is a relative who
will not desert you
when you are poor.
It is a medicine
against sorrow
That does you no
harm.
It is the best taskforce
To dispatch against your misdeeds.
(Jataka Tales)

Viet Nalanda Foundation
Tibetan-Buddhism for Vietnamese Vajrayana Buddhists

Photo: James & Li Ling

ZANGPO PROJECT

Blessed by H.H. the 14th Dalai Lama

One of our organization's aspirations is to cultivate a fertile ground for the precious teachings of Tibetan Vajrayana Buddhism to be transmitted to Vietnam, and flourish within the overseas Vietnamese Buddhist communities. On October 16, 2007, Viet Nalanda Foundation (also known as Viet Vajra Foundation) was granted an audience with H.H. the Dalai Lama in Washington, D.C. Recognizing the urgent need for Vietnamese ordained members, translators and lay practitioners to be well-versed in both Tibetan Buddhism and Tibetan language, Viet Nalanda Foundation brought to His Holiness's attention our aspiration in creating opportunities for Vietnamese ordained members, translators and lay practitioners to undergo extensive monastic and Tibetan language training in India and Nepal. His Holiness blessed the concept, and instructed us to work closely with his representa-*

Photo: Andy Vu

About the Zangpo Project

The Zangpo Project is inspired by a young Vietnamese monk from Vietnam, Ngawang Tsultrim Zangpo, who is a devoted student of Trulshik Rinpoche. Ngawang Zangpo's genuine wish is to travel to Dharamsala, India for the Tibetan language training and basic Buddhist philosophy studies.

The Zangpo Project does not limit its sponsorship to monks and nuns from Vietnam but we sincerely encourage overseas Vietnamese ordained members, translators and lay practitioners to also consider this precious Tibetan language and Buddhist training opportunity.

The Zangpo Project coordinates and works directly with representatives of HH the Dalai Lama as well as representatives of various Buddhist institutes such as the the Songtsen Library, the Kagyu College, the College for Higher Tibetan Studies, Sarah, Library of Tibetan Works and Archives (LTWA), Samten Nun-nery... with the aspiration to establish a consistent and systematic approach for future sponsorships.

Viet Nalanda Foundation's vision is to continue to sponsor Vietnamese monks, nuns, translators and lay practitioners who aspire to follow the footsteps of the authentic Tibetan Buddhist Masters in seeking the pure Dharma knowledge in the Land of the Buddha.

Viet Nalanda Foundation, Inc.

based in Maryland, USA is a tax-exempt non-profit 501(c)3 organization founded exclusively for charitable, educational and religious purposes.

Webpage: www.vietnalanda.org Email: vietnalanda@gmail.com

Your Support is Vital to the Success of the Zangpo Project!

It costs approximately 600 US dollars each year to sponsor a person for his/her study in Dehra Dun, India. Our pure motivation is the guiding lamp but Viet Nalanda Foundation alone cannot guarantee the success of the Zangpo Project. We need your support and no contribution is too small. We welcome you to contribute to this project by either making a one-time donation or offer monthly on-going support. Please fill out the attached pledge form and mail it together with your donation to:

Viet Nalanda Foundation - Project Zangpo

112 Stanford Court

Irvine, CA 92612 - USA

Credit card donation may be donated on-line using the 'PayPal' system at the following link:

www.vietnalanda.org/sidedeanzangpo.html

Suggestions or comments? Please send an email to vietnalanda@gmail.com or call 949-329-0039.

Viet Nalanda Foundation
(Viet_Vajra Foundation)

Founded in January 2006 by a group of Vietnamese Tibetan Buddhists worldwide to promote networking among Vietnamese Vajrayana practitioners and friends.

Viet Nalanda Foundation seeks to establish mutual understanding and cooperation between Vietnamese and Tibetan ordained members, scholars, translators, spiritual friends and lay practitioners, as well as to generate an appreciation for both Vietnamese and Tibetan histories and cultures in the context of Buddhism.

